Journal of Neurotherapy Online

I recently received the following notice from Melissa J. Devendorf of Haworth Press, Inc., “We are pleased to inform you that Haworth Press’ entire range of journals will shortly be offered in electronic format. We are currently placing all new journal issues online.” It is anticipated that complimentary copies will be offered online to potential subscribers, and that regular subscribers to the journal will be able to access on-line versions with a secure password entry. The details are to be worked out. This will offer several advantages to subscribers, including earlier distribution of the Journal prior to distribution of printed and mailed versions, as well as ease in electronic access for review and writing purposes. As of this writing, abstracts and Table of Contents of Volume 4 onward are available online at <www.snr-jnt.org>. Copies of Volumes 1-3 are available electronically there as well. Copies of all back issues are available from <getinfo@haworthpressinc.com>.
